

JOHN ANSELL

---

Since 1989 John Ansell has been a pharmaceutical industry consultant based in Thame, near Oxford, UK. He concentrates on international projects with a commercial and strategic emphasis, reflecting his previous industry experience. A biochemistry graduate with an MA in business studies, John Ansell's 20-year career in the UK and Holland included positions with Organon, Schering AG, Fisons, Solvay and Glaxo Holdings.

Subsequently, as an independent industry consultant based in Thame, near Oxford, UK, John has worked for more than 110 clients on commercial strategic projects. Over the past year he has advised six of the top seven global investment banks since 2007; recently he been placed in the top 5% Leader category of the Gerson Lehrman Group's consultants based on quality of interaction with its clients.

John is a frequent speaker on many aspects of international marketing and business development. He has also spoken frequently on mergers and alliances.

John was a long-standing member of the Editorial Advisory Board of the US journal Pharmaceutical Executive (1990-2002), and has been Chairman of the Advisory Board of Decision Resources since its inception in 2005. He is also Honorary Consultant to the University of Manchester School of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences.